"BILL"
 In spite of the fact we would like to believe there is a plenty of time, any thinking woman knows better. The holidays are here and instead of sitting around something in the background, we are headed straight to the point. . . . The think-young attitude combined with the return of the real attitude, have made last year's holiday dresses just about as far out as they can get. We fight as well get it and buy something new!

For instance, Juwe would have shown you one of the NEW dresses that have that new look, the "angel" is the wide-sleeved dress, one that can be worn for day and evening. It has a high neckline, slightly flared skirt and covers completely. For evening use some of the many-colored colored pins, with no intent of being real, but just in beautiful. You may select the new style in bonded crepe or the double-knit.

A spangled chiffon in bright colors simply floats when you walk or . . . dance as the case may be and it has a wonderful effect on your posture, very real looking. We have three styles, all less than $35.00. And you want to really be noticed, get a Korset of California crepe with a beautiful twinkle loop over-blowse - in opal green or pink. Floor length or short skirt.

These are but a few, we have more than we can ever describe but we do invite you to see them all . . . We are off to gay holiday season and we hope you will be with us . . . let's start at

FASHIONETTES

United Press International
 All eyes will be on ears come spring. Big earrings falling all the way to the shoulders show for late day and evening as accessories for spring clothes. Look for them in graduated diamond shapes in rhinestones and pearls. In multi-colored stones, or as glittery globes graduating in size, small near the ear, about the size of a golf ball near the shoulder.

The low heel continues the suitable heel for suits and dresses for spring. The classic high-heeled pump is ruled out in spring collections as ready-to-wear manufacturers show their new wares. The models walk comfortably in heels no higher than two inches and with the Puritan-buckled pump still going strong.

Label it striped for spring. Stripes graduated in size up to two inches and in as many colors as Joseph's coat go horizontally into blouses, dresses, even coats worn over solid color dresses.

Designer-manufacturer Mollie Parnis has the answer to the slip-showing problem. She slashes some of her daytime print dresses to mid-thigh at the sides, then sets a matching printed slip beneath.

Dear Readers: This year's most asked question to HHU is: "How can I write and tell those fighting men in Vietnam that we're pulling for them?"

Finally - I have the answer, in a letter from Paul Stewart, Project Coordinator, Vietnam Mail Call, P. O. Box 3104, Columbus, Georgia, 31903. He says in part:

Dear Mrs. Bottel: Thank you for your letter. We are delighted to know you have readers who wish to write to servicemen.

Vietnam Mail Call is a project of the South Columbus, Georgia, Merchants, Association a civic club. Since it was started in 1966, we have forwarded over 500,000 letters of support and appreciation to U.S. Troops in Vietnam, and though we cannot at this time accept packages for forwarding (due to transportation shortage), we are happy to say we can get letters to the men through Company Commanders and others who will distribute them.

Please instruct your readers to write a letter, not more than two pages, enclose it in an envelope that has only the writer's name and address in the left hand corner. Leave the address space blank and do NOT place postage on this envelope. Then put the letter to the serviceman in a second envelope addressed to Vietnam MAIL CALL, P.O. BOX 3104, COLUMBUS, GEORGIA, 31903. Put your return address in the left hand corner and enclose two five-cent stamps or a dime. We do not want the stamps stuck to the letters because we place several letters in a box to mail all at once, using the stamps for the box.

Hidden Ears

Inside the olive of a martini, under the handle of a briefcase, behind the knob on a dashboard, within the cavity of a tooth—in all these places, electronic "bugs" have been hidden for the purpose of eavesdropping. The startling sophistication of such devices has lent new cunning to both the spy and the counter-spy. To both the law-violator and the law enforcer.

It has also raised one of the toughest legal issues of the day. Should the information obtained in this manner be valid evidence in the courtroom?

Since the circumstances vary so widely, there can be no simple answer. However, certain basic principles are already pretty well established.

Thus, eavesdropping evidence is not acceptable if it was gotten by unlawfully breaking into a person's home.

In one case, police broke into the home of a suspected bookie and planted an electronic bug under a chest of drawers. Sure enough, the recordings indicated that the man was guilty.

But a court rejected this evidence, because the police had ignored the constitutional ban on unreasonable search.

"It is preferable that some criminals go free," said the court, "than that the right of privacy of all the people be set at naught."

On the other hand, the mere fact that the eavesdropping was done secretly does not spoil it as evidence. For example:

A revenue agent, talking with a suspected tax dodger, had a wire recorder hidden in his pocket. During the conversation the man offered a bribe, duly recorded on the wire.

But in this case there had been no breaking into private quarters. Furthermore, the suspect, by merely talking to the revenue agent, had knowingly taken the risk that the agent might "tattle on him."

Holding this evidence admissible, the court pointed out that the agent himself could testify to the conversation—and the recording device simply did the job better.

In short, the law is seeking to strike a fair balance between the desire for personal privacy and the need for fighting crime. Research and study in this area are intense. And, as legal arguments go, the debate is passionate.

But so it should be. In a free land, this is basic business.

 UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — No other toy offers so much to the overall learning of a young child as a set of blocks. Mrs. Marguerite Ducall, extension specialist in child development and family life at Pennsylvania State University, says blocks help a child increase his skills in manipulation, imagination, problem solving and playing with other children.

Flexibility, too, is probably the greatest contribution of blocks to a child's play. With them, for example, he can make an airport, a barn, a fort or a castle.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Would American servicemen in Viet Nam like to be visited by motherly types as well as shapely chicks?

Character actress Lilla Skala thinks so, but she can't convince the committee that sends entertainers to the war zone.

The Viennese-born Miss Skala, an American resident since the Nazi takeover of Austria, thought of going to Viet Nam when she read of how movies are shown outdoors to troops at Army bases.

"I thought perhaps I could show 'Lilies of the Field' to them," said the actress, whose portrayal of the stern mother superior in the film won her an Academy nomination. "It is a very soothing film and that in itself would be helpful. Afterwards I could sing some songs — I have taken lessons for years."

"But better yet, I would just talk to the boys and answer any questions they might have about the making of the movie. I have no illusions about myself as an entertainer; I know the boys would rather have Ann-Margret. But I think I could be of help in talking to the boys, perhaps telling them about my own two sons who were in the last war."

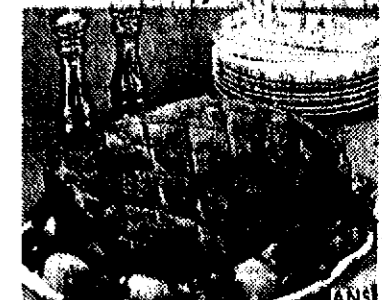

"Also, I could take names and telephone numbers of their wives and mothers, whom I would call when I got back here. That would certainly be of comfort."

Miss Skala made her proposal to the Hollywood Overseas Committee which books the Viet Nam trips. She was told in a polite way that the committee sees a greater need for entertainers who can sing and dance, preferably young ones.

"She won't be discouraged. 'Every human being finds himself under great pressure,' she reasons, 'and he has the desire to speak of it and have someone listen with visible interest. Sometimes just speaking out clarifies our thought. I'm sure I could be of service if I could go to Viet Nam and just listen to what those boys have to say.'"

Miss Skala is now making a feature film for television, "Ironside," in which she appears with Raymond Burr. Learning that he had made three trips to Viet Nam, she told him of her desire to go. "Come with me next time," he suggested, and she accepted eagerly.

Holiday Ham

FOR HOLIDAYS or special occasions, saucy baked ham with delicious honey glaze is a true taste treat.

BAKED HAM A.1.

1 pre-cooked ham (10-12 lbs.)
 3/4 cup honey
 1/4 cup water
 2 tbs. A.1. Sauce
 2 tbs. lemon juice
 1/2 cup red cinnamon candy
 1 bunch watercress
 1 jar spiced peaches

Score ham with diamond pattern, place on heavy duty foil in baking pan. Mix honey, water, A.1., lemon juice, candy in separate pan. Bring to boil, simmer until candy dissolves. Pour half of mixture over ham, form foil loosely around ham so juices are retained. Bake at 350°, 10-15 min. per lb.

A half-hour before serving, remove from oven. Spread liberally with remaining mixture. Increase heat to 400°, leave foil open. Baste often for good red glaze. Serve on bed of watercress, surrounded by spiced peaches, for festive look.

UCLA's Supporting Cast Holds Key to Cage Title

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Adolph Rupp has those four national championship trophies in the Kentucky fieldhouse because he believes in one basic fundamental: basketball is a five-man game.

Adolph plans to end his 37th year of coaching at the University of Kentucky by proving his point again next March at the National Collegiate Championships in Louisville.

"It takes more than one man, no matter how big, to build a championship team," Rupp said. "Kansas couldn't do it with Wilt Chamberlain."

Correct. Kansas, really Chamberlain, did not do it. But UCLA will because it has the supporting talent.

In addition to Lew Alcindor, the 7-1 sophomore who already has been compared favorably with Chamberlain, the Bruins have four other starters who would be star material on any other team. The bench is strong, too. It all adds up to a third national title in four years for Bruin coach John Wooden.

UCLA's competition will come from Kentucky, Duke, Western Kentucky, and defending champion Texas Western in the nation's top five.

The second five will consist of Louisville, Houston, Loyola, Davidson and West Virginia. Any slips by those teams, and Dayton, North Carolina, Brigham Young, LaSalle and Boston College will move right in.

Once again, Duke and UCLA will find out a lot about themselves very soon. The teams meet in another two-game series Dec. 9-10 in Los Angeles. Last year, Duke defeated UCLA twice in North Carolina, the Bruins never quite recovering after that.

Duke-UCLA will be doubly interesting this year because Alcindor will be facing a rugged (230 pounds), though smaller (6-7), center in Mike Lewis.

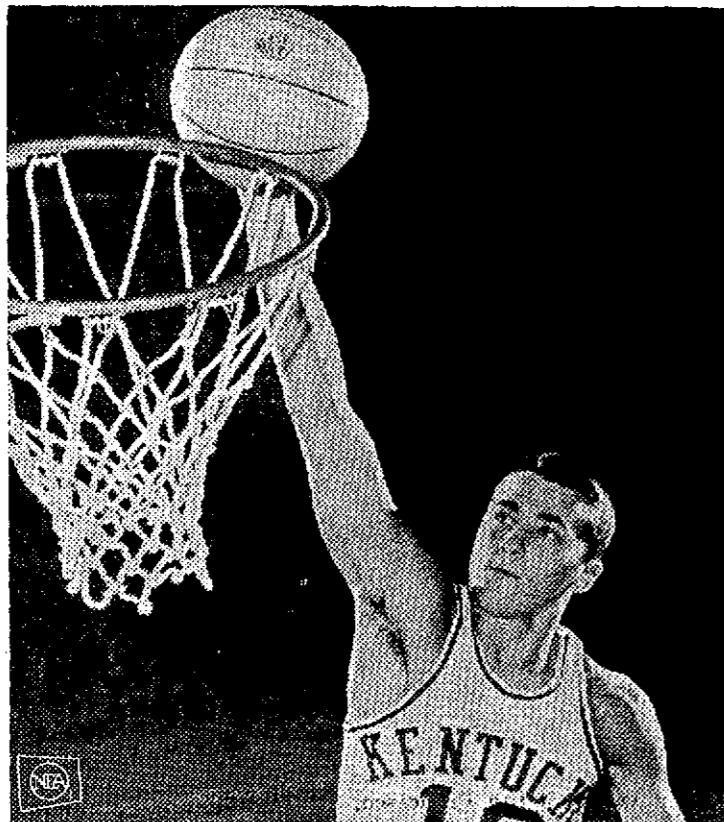

In addition to Alcindor, Wooden will field a starting team with two other sophomores: guard Lucius Allen (6-2) and forward Lynn Shackelford (6-5). They, like Alcindor, were high school All-Americans, and had excellent seasons for the UCLA freshman team, which defeated the varsity last year. Allen averaged 22.4 points per game, Shackelford 20.9 and Alcindor

Padwe's Top Ten

1. UCLA
2. Kentucky
3. Western Kentucky
4. Texas Western
5. Duke
6. Louisville
7. Houston
8. Loyola (Chicago)
9. Davidson
10. West Virginia

33.1.

For experience, Wooden has Mike Lynn, the leading scorer on the varsity last season (16.8) and all-conference guard Mike Warren, who averaged

A GENUINE All-American last year, Louis Dampier is back again at guard this year for the University of Kentucky. Dampier averaged 21.3 points per game for Adolph Rupp.

16.6. Kentucky's success depends mainly on Pat Riley, Lou Dampier and Thad Jaracz. Riley (21.9) and Dampier (21.1) were genuine All-Americans last season. Jaracz (13.2) improved greatly by the end of his sophomore season.

The only problem at Kentucky is lack of height. Jaracz, at 6-6, was the tallest starter last season, but he may get help this year if 6-8 Cliff Berger moves into the starting lineup. Phil Argento, who averaged 30 points for the frosh a year ago, may be the other starting guard.

Duke, as always, will be one of the nation's smoothest teams. Bob Verga is an exceptionally fine backcourtman, Lewis is a strong center and Bob Reidy a solid forward. Before heading for California, you can be sure that Vic Bubas will find two other capable starters from his stable of fine talent.

Western Kentucky is the longshot of the year. The Hill-toppers lost only one starter from last year's club which just missed (80-79) upsetting Michigan and Cazzie Russell in the NCAA playoffs. Clem Haskins (20.4) is the best of the returnees, but the whole team can shoot and play adequate defense.

There is an added incentive for Western: a shot at Rupp's team in the NCAA regionals. The teams never have met team with "seven starters." Only two are gone.

Bobby Hill, the exciting guard whose steals broke open the championship game, returns, along with 6-7 center David Lattin, 6-8 Nevil Shed, 6-5 Willie Cager and backcourtman Willie Worsley.

The Miners are going to have to beat UCLA in the regional playoffs if they hope to reach the finals again.

There is not much of a drop in quality among the second five. Louisville and Houston have outstanding centers in Westley Unseld and Elvin Hayes.

Loyola of Chicago has speed and good scoring balance with Corky Bell, Doug Wardlaw and Alan Miller.

Davidson has a 6-9 junior center, Rod Knowles, who averaged 19.4 last season. He gets help up front from 6-10 Tom Youngdale who averaged 10.2. Dave Moser, a refugee from Indiana, is one of the most promising backcourtmen in the school's history.

West Virginia completes the Top Ten. The Mountaineers finished with a 19-9 record last year after Bucky Waters took over as head coach. Bucky has his key men back: Ron Williams and Carl Head, who averaged 19.3 and 13.9 respectively.

Levias Voted Best Lineman in Southwest

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Jerry Levias, Southern Methodist's great split end whose personal achievements won a half-dozen games for his team, has received still another honor.

He has been voted most valuable lineman in the Southwest Conference by sports writers in the annual Houston Post poll.

Levias, a sophomore, got eight votes from the 11-man committee. Teammate John LaGrone, Southern Methodist Guard, polled two and Loyd Phillips, Arkansas' All-America tackle, received the other one. Mac White, Southern Methodist quarterback, and Chris Gilbert, Texas' great running back, tied for most valuable back, with four votes each. Jon Brittenum, Arkansas quarterback, received the other three. They will get duplicate trophies.

The trophies will be awarded Thursday at an awards banquet of the Touchdown Club of Houston.

Kidney Ill Hits Rural Red Populace

By IVAN STEFANOVIC
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Twenty-five per cent of the rural population of Yugoslavia, Romania and Bulgaria suffers from a mysterious kidney disease. Its cause is still unknown after four years of research directed by a prominent American doctor.

Despite its wide spread in these three countries, the malady is endemic — almost unknown in any other region.

It strikes the young — teenagers or even children under 10. But its origin is difficult to trace because the symptoms usually do not appear for almost 10 years. As the disease develops, the sufferers become anemic and are greatly weakened. In its advanced stages, the disease often is fatal.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Sorry fellas, this is gonna have to go down as the year that I DIDN'T show my scar!"

Barney Ross Battling Cancer

By JERRY LISK
CHICAGO (AP)—A prizefighter has to be a battler, but for Barney Ross fate cruelly never let him put down his dukes or fighting heart.

Ross, 57, was a ring terror as world lightweight and welterweight champion in the mid 1930s.

However, boxing retirement in 1938 marked only the beginning of a fantastically grim struggle in the life and times of a little iron man born in New York City as Barnett David Rosofsky.

"Don't worry, I'm still in there swinging and I'll lick this thing, too," rasper Ross, who has throat cancer.

"I've had 10 weeks of cobalt treatments and the doctors have arrested its spread."

Ross is a man who wouldn't tell you about a nightmare if his life was full of them. And it has been.

There was the hellish night, in 1942, when Marine Corp. Ross killed 22 Japanese soldiers while standing guard over three wounded buddies in a Guadalcanal foxhole.

In 1946, there were four torturous months in a government hospital when Ross conquered the narcotics habit which "slipped up" on him, the aftermath of malaria contracted in the South Pacific jungles.

And now it's still another lonely, desperate battle — with no referee, no gloves and no rules — for the lion-hearted little guy who heard the roar of thousands.

When he won the lightweight title from Tony Canzoneri in 1933 at Chicago and the same year outlasted Canzoneri in a fierce rematch before 35,000 in New York's Polo Grounds.

When he had an epic three fight series with Jimmy McLarnin, winning the welter crown from McLarnin in 1934, losing a rematch and then whipping McLarnin in their third bristling tangle.

And when Barney was battered into retirement in losing the welter title to Hammering Henry Armstrong on May 31, 1938.

Barney's ring earnings are gone, but not his friends.

In New York, a testimonial to Ross will be held Wednesday night at a Sunnyside Garden fight show aimed at raising $10,000 for the stricken ex-champ.

On Dec. 12, Barney's Chicago friends will pay $50 each to attend a downtown theater at which film clips of Barney's old fights will be shown.

Constant companions of Ross are his attractive wife, Kathy, and Ira Colitz, a wealthy Chicagoan and boyhood chum of Barney's.

Barney Ross had 82 professional fights, lost only four and never was knocked out.

A man like Ross refuses to be knocked out.

250 Million to Aid Home Mortgages

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is giving the sagging home building industry a $250-million emergency transfusion. Some builders hail it as a step in the right direction. Others say it is too little, too late.

President Johnson ordered the release Monday of one-fourth of the $1 billion in special federal mortgage funds authorized by the last Congress. The government said the action would permit construction of 15,000 new homes.

Due largely to a shortage of mortgage funds, the housing industry is mired in its deepest recession in two decades. Total housing starts in October dropped to 83,100 units — the lowest since World War II and more than 50,000 under October 1965.

The $250 million will be used to buy mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration on new homes costing a maximum of $15,000, or $17,500 in "high cost areas" and $22,500 in Hawaii, Alaska and Guam.

Release of the federal mortgage funds coincided with these other developments related to the nation's economy:

—Officials in Washington said no decision has been made on whether the President will ask Congress next year to raise taxes. "It's still a 50-50 chance," one said. A day earlier, Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., said he expects Johnson to seek a tax in-

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG Bothersome Skin Diseases Possible to Control

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have had seborrheic eczema for a year. I am being treated by a general practitioner and a dermatologist but I am not cured yet. What do you advise?

A—Seborrhea, seborrheic dermatitis and seborrheic eczema are synonyms. This disease can usually be controlled but not cured. The first step in treatment is to shampoo thoroughly. After wetting your hair, lather your scalp, allowing the lather to remain on your scalp three or four minutes before rinsing. This will remove the top layer of dirt and dandruff. It is important to repeat the process, massaging your scalp gently while lathering and being careful not to scratch it with your fingernails. If shampooing twice a week makes your scalp dry you should shampoo every six or seven days.

For the itching, scaling lesions that may appear on the face or chest you should apply a 5 per cent sulfur ointment made with a greasy base, using it at night before going to bed.

Ample rest and avoidance of increase of between $10 billion and $15 billion.

—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., predicted a sharp division in the new Congress over the issue of possible tax increases. Proxmire is in line to become chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee in the 1967 session.

—House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said the GOP will keep plugging for a sharing of federal revenues with the states even if federal spending is cut and taxes raised.

—Dr. Leon H. Keyserling, who was economic adviser to former President Harry S. Truman, said in a Denver, Colo., speech that "holding back the economy to restrain inflation, rather than stimulating the economy, seems palpably wrong to me."

of chocolate, nuts, greasy foods, salt, spices and pork are also recommended. Occasional flareups can be expected even with the best of treatment.

Q—About a year ago my ears began to itch down inside. The doctor said there was no fungus or anything he could see. What could cause this?

A—The most likely cause is seborrhea. The treatment is discussed in the preceding answer.

Q—Is dandruff a disease? How do you get rid of it?

A—A certain amount of scaling of the scalp is normal. When it is excessive and extends to the face and chest it is called seborrhea. For simple dandruff, frequent shampooing is all that is needed.

Our revolutionary 165-hp OHC 6 is so revolutionary we had to do something special with it. So we made it standard in all Tempests and LeMans.

You see, it was inspired by those rare overhead cam engines in expensive European sports cars. With a few Pontiac refinements, of course.

That's why it'll keep running and running with somebody turns it. And with a new over-the-shoulder safety way passing you'd hardly expect it to.

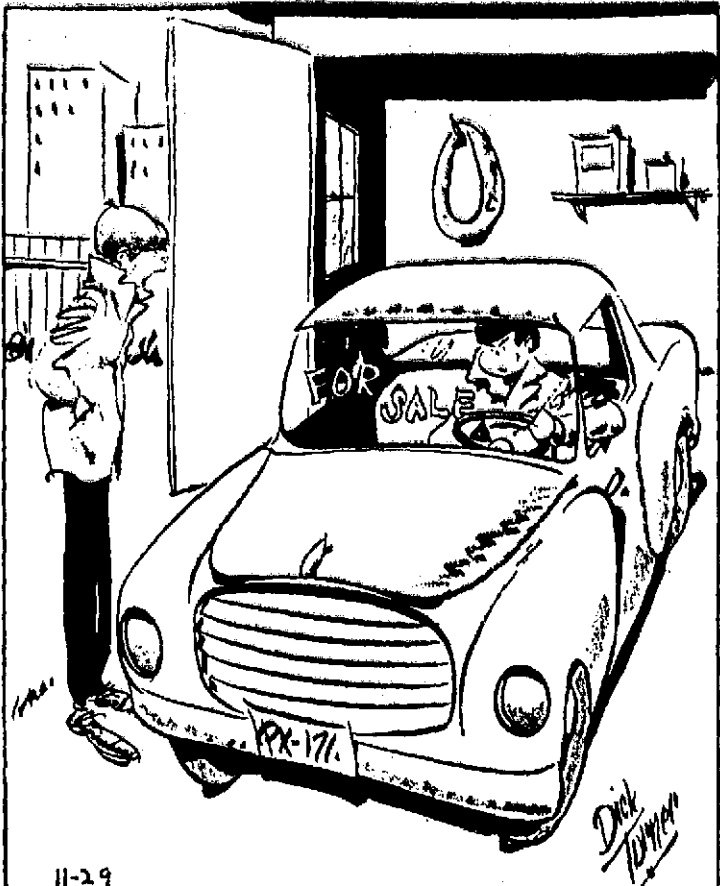

We even offer a 215-hp version that makes a lot of big V-6s seem awfully extravagant. Which is why we say, with a little less who needs an 8?

Incidentally, a four-way hazard warning flasher, backup lights, and GM's energy absorbing steering column are some of the safety features also standard in all Tempests and LeMans. So now can you possibly resist seeing your Pontiac dealer right now?

Deception in play is not limited to false cards. An alert declarer will frequently create an illusion in an opponent's mind by an unusual discard.

If North and South had worked their way to three no-trump the favorable break in clubs would insure that contract but they arrived at four spades.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the ace and queen. South had studied the hand carefully before playing to the first trick and he noted that his only reasonable play would be to try the heart finesse. If this worked he would have 10 easy tricks. If it failed he could deal the next hand.

Then he thought a little further. Maybe he could persuade West to lead a heart for him. When West followed up his king of clubs lead with the ace and then the queen South was ready to encourage a shift to hearts. He discarded the deuce of hearts on the queen of clubs.

West found himself still on lead. He couldn't afford a lead of his last club. That would give South a chance to ruff in dummy and discard from his own hand. A diamond lead from the jack appeared dangerous. South might be holding a king-ten combination.

West should have shifted to a trump. It was very unlikely that this would cost his partner a trump trick but West was mesmerized by that heart discard. He led away from his king of hearts and South had found the way to his tenth trick.

Watch what's happening to watches

Switzerland is virtually synonymous with watches. Not only does the Alpine country sell its own timepieces throughout the world, its design innovations influence the products of other countries. High point of the Swiss watch year is the International Watch and Jewelry Salon showing. These award winners from this year's show at Zurich may be the new international pace setters.

First prize winner was the man's gold "integral" design above, with watch and bracelet joined. Squares of suede fill spaces between the gold links of the man's watch below. Four panes over the watch itself are of quartz.

A radical departure from the miniature watches popular with women for many years is this bold design with a large, engraved bracelet.

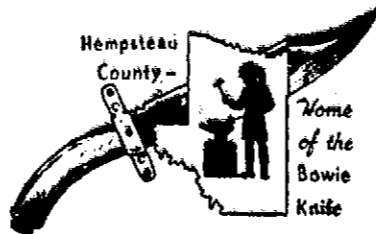

The unusually long case of this narrow, curved man's watch is intended to ensure a perfect fit on the wrist. The yellow gold case is engraved.

No Tax Increase Without Full and Complete Debate

The most hopeful news out of Washington in a decade is on this page today — a wire report indicating that, if actually proposed, an increase in the income tax will meet with a full-fledged opposition and unlimited debate.

The Johnson administration obviously wants an increase — it said so before the Nov. 8 national elections and has been hinting ever since that its intent hasn't changed. . . . despite the fact that the election turned out to be virtually a vote of no confidence.

The administration's party line is that we are in a war in Viet Nam, need more taxes to support that war, and that a loyal home front has the unchallenged obligation to pay and pay.

Of course we have a war going on in Viet Nam — but what the people back home object to is a two-faced administration that pursues its extravagant "business as usual" on the home front, Johnson wastes more money at home trying to buy votes than would support two minor wars.

The question is: Is he proposing an income tax increase to fight a war — or to bolster his vote-buying at home?

If we let him sweat by denying a tax increase he'll still have to maintain the war effort — and eventually this will force him to cut expenses back home . . . which is sensible and fair.

Students Bid for Voice in School Policy

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Student leaders called for a mass sit-in today at the University of Michigan as a "show of strength" in their demands for a role in decisions now made by university officials.

Harlan H. Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, one of the largest universities in the nation with 33,000 students, moved to head off growing antagonism by students. He postponed a controversial ban against sit-ins and ordered re-examination of the ban by a committee of students, faculty and administration. He said he is establishing a similar commission to study the question of "student participation in university decision-making."

Leaders of three student groups posted notice of an all-campus rally at noon today. They said they would ask students at the rally to march on the administration building and sit down in the halls to enforce their demands.

Edward Robinson, 21, president of the Student Government Council which has broken off official relations with the university, said he would urge sit-in "to illustrate what we do if the administration does not give students the place in the university that they want."

Robinson, a senior from Haverford, Pa., was joined in the appeal by Michael Szwed of Birmingham, Mich., chairman of Students for a Democratic Society, and Douglas Ross, a Detroit who is president of U-M Young Democrats.

Hatcher told the faculty senate Monday night "the general policy against disruption of the university cannot be abrogated."

But he said the university's ban against sit-ins that disrupt orderly processes of administration will not be put into effect until the joint committee studies the ban.

Hatcher also said he is establishing a committee to study the university's policy of compiling class rankings. Such rankings are furnished at the request of students to draft boards and are used to determine draft deferments.

Last week, some 3,000 students voted in a referendum to sit in unless the University suspended the sit-in ban and abolished class ranking.

Business Secretary: Just 7 in 1870, Now 3 Million Strong

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Every little girl yearns at some time to become a ballet dancer, a nurse, or a schoolteacher.

But the fact is that more and more wise little girls are growing up to become business secretaries.

For woman's place today is as much the office as it is the kitchen. One of the results of the continuing industrial revolution has been to put womanhood in a new seat of power — behind a typewriter.

Less than 100 years ago, women were almost as scarce in American business offices as gem pearls are in restaurant oysters.

"According to the 1870 census, there were just seven female office workers," says Earl Tiffany Jr., president of the Royal Typewriter Co. "Today there are approximately three million secretaries, stenographers and typists — and 98 per cent of them are women."

Another source, Miss M. Merle Law, president of the National Secretaries Association, agrees with Tiffany's figure of three million, but estimates the total number of U.S. women office workers in all jobs at seven million.

How did women come to this giant step? Some historians trace it back to the year 1881 when the YWCA started the first typing courses for women.

Year by year, women methodically replaced men in office work just as in the fields the tractor replaced the horse. Here are some statistics

75 of Enemy Killed in Skirmishes

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U. S. and South Vietnamese commands reported 75 Communists killed in small skirmishes in the past 24 hours as the lull in ground fighting in the Viet Nam war continued for the third day. Continuing foul weather once again slowed the U. S. air offensive.

The U. S. command reported 53 enemy killed in more than a dozen patrol contacts. The South Vietnamese headquarters said their forces killed 22 Communists in three small engagements.

Vietnamese headquarters also reported that a Viet Cong force ambushed a 17-vehicle Vietnamese military convoy this morning on its way to the mountain city of Dalat, causing some casualties.

The ambush 98 miles northeast of Saigon was the third in the Dalat area in less than a week. There were no details on the number of government casualties or damage inflicted to the convoy.

U. S. Air Force B52 bombers returned to the central highlands near Cambodia today and struck at North Vietnamese troop concentrations 35 miles northwest of Pleiku.

Sources at the Pentagon in Washington said about 20 more of the big bombers have joined the 30-plane fleet based on Guam, and the U. S. command plans to step up bombing raids against Communist troop concentrations and supply areas.

U. S. pilots flew only 39 bombing missions over North Viet Nam Monday as the monsoon rains and low clouds continued into the third week. Five of the raids were against North Vietnamese positions in the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

American pilots flew 311 strike sorties over South Viet Nam Monday and South Vietnamese pilots flew 162. A U. S. Army helicopter was shot down 10 miles northeast of Saigon, and two Americans were killed.

Sanctions Asked on Rhodesia

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson sent a high-level mission to Washington today to get American backing for any compulsory sanctions he seeks to bring the Rhodesian rebels to their knees.

As the mission left for the United States, Wilson met with his Cabinet for a final decision on whether to break off negotiations with the white minority government in Salisbury and take the dispute to the U.N. Security Council.

The government is convinced that mandatory sanctions won't work unless the United States backs them. Wilson promised Commonwealth leaders last month to apply for U.N. sanctions unless Smith came through by Nov. 30 with an acceptable program for eventual transfer of power from Rhodesia's 225,000 whites to the colony's 4 million Africans.

Wilson and key members of his Cabinet agreed Monday that minor concessions offered by Smith Saturday did not meet Britain's terms.

One published report said Wilson might fly to Salisbury if there is any chance of real progress.

State police said Simon lost control of his car and hit a bridge abutment.

The accident was investigated by State Troopers Bob Cockman and Wallace Martin.

Biggest War Push Cracks Cong Hdqs.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

LONG BINH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Operation Attleboro, the biggest U.S. action of the Viet Nam war, cracked open one of the toughest and oldest of the Viet Cong's strongholds.

That is the judgment of Maj. Gen. Fred C. Weyand, who directed the 43-day operation involving some 25,000 American soldiers in the tangled jungles of Tay Ninh Province northwest of Saigon.

"We started the end of War Zone C as a sanctuary for the VC," Weyand said in an interview at his headquarters here. "War Zone C will never be the same."

The Communists have controlled the area stretching to the Cambodian border for 20 years or more.

The general did not claim that the Viet Cong's hold on Zone C has been broken. But he predicted that "eventually, War Zone C will no longer be a base area for them."

Operation Attleboro was declared ended last Saturday with a claimed bag of more than 1,100 Communist regulars killed and nearly 2,400 tons of all-important rice captured, plus hoards of other supplies.

Weyand said he decided to call off the operation because it no longer was worth the heavy resources assigned to it — elements of two U.S. Army divisions, parts of two brigades and a tank regiment.

Once the Communist command decided the American opposition was too great, Weyand said, the Viet Cong 9th Division and the 101st North Vietnamese Regiment dispersed in small groups.

The 50-year-old general said he thinks the bulk of the Communist force now is hiding out northeast of Zone C along the Cambodian border. He estimated that the tough 6,000-man 9th Division took about 20 per cent casualties.

Now that Attleboro is history, the major American units which were drawn into the battle have returned to the jobs they were doing when the call came.

Some are seeking out provincial and local Viet Cong units and turning to pacification around Saigon.

Winthrop Asks Time on Budget

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Governor-elect Winthrop Rockefeller has told the Legislative Council by letter that his budget recommendations will not be ready for the council before Dec. 12 because there is not enough time for him to do so before then.

"I very much hope that the council will consider my recommendations prior to its final review and before it makes its recommendations to the General Assembly," said Rockefeller, who has been in New York suffering from a severe cold. He was to take a brief vacation before returning here.

Rockefeller, in a letter to Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton, the council chairman, said he would like to make recommendations down to a line-item basis but that he did not have enough time to do so.

"I intend to give to the legislature as detailed recommendations as possible," he said.

Grounded Ferry's Passengers Ride Out Great Lakes Storm

LUDINGTON, Mich. (AP) —

Safe and snug, 128 passengers aboard a car ferry marooned in a raging blizzard rode out the storm by "playing cards, eating, sleeping and enjoying themselves."

Capt. Henry Gates described the scene today aboard his car ferry, City of Midland 41.

Gale winds drove the 470-foot vessel onto a shoal Monday at the channel entrance to Ludington, a resort port off Lake Michigan.

A breakfast "ranging from scrambled eggs to french toast — most anything they want," was being prepared for the passengers today, Gates told a newsmen by radio-telephone.

"There's no danger whatsoever," said 2nd Mate Charles Carriere, 32, one of the 56 crewmen aboard the 4,000-ton vessel. The 64-year-old captain, master of the City of Midland the past several years, said everybody was "warm and comfortable" despite the 30-degree temperatures and winds up to 50 knots. The car ferry has 60 state rooms.

Gates said the wind was diminishing enough to allow a tug to tow the car ferry off the sand bar.

Officials at Ludington harbor said they expect the high winds to let up during the morning allowing towing operations to begin.

Panic Cooled as Transport Lands Safely

By KENNETH L. WHITING

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Air Force captain told today how he slammed his crippled transport into tree-tops to knock down passengers who panicked when liquid flames poured from the plane's ceiling.

Capt. Richard A. Nagel Jr., 34, of Kenmore, N.Y., managed to crash land the plane despite a smoke-filled cockpit and fire raging out of control in the cabin.

All but one of the 37 persons on board escaped serious injury in the crash at Dau Tieng Saturday. One U.S. soldier-passenger reportedly has serious internal injuries.

Nagel was making his fifth takeoff of the day ferrying soldiers at the end of Operation Attleboro, the biggest U.S. operation of the war. His twin-engine C123 Provider was hit by intense ground fire just after lifting from the airstrip.

"We had been warned of possible panic," Nagel said.

Income Tax Hike to Face Stiff Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen.

William Proxmire predicted today a sharp division in the new Congress over the issue of possible tax increases.

Proxmire said in an interview the Senate — House Economic Committee he is in line to head in the 1967 session may furnish a prime example of disagreement over taxes when it begins its annual review of President Johnson's fiscal proposals.

The Wisconsin Democrat noted that he has opposed any tax increase while Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., top Republican on the group, has been plugging for a boost in the income levy for several months.

"I am sure there will be a sharp division of opinion over whether any tax increase is necessary," Proxmire said.

GOP Gov. Clifford P. Hansen of Wyoming, checking in for his new role as a senator, told a news conference Monday he thinks Congress ought to take a hard look at possible budget economies before it considers any tax increase.

He said he believes there are opportunities for spending reductions in domestic programs and in foreign aid. He said the antipoverty program, for example, is spending too much on personnel salaries and too little on aiding the indigent.

New German Chief for U.S. Ties

By CARL HARTMAN

BONN, Germany (AP) — Kurt Georg Kiesinger, generally expected to become West Germany's chancellor, today predicted good relations with both the United States and France.

Kiesinger, Christian Democrat minister president (governor) of Baden Wurttemberg State, is known for his friendliness to President Charles de Gaulle's government just across the Rhine. Asked if closer West German ties with France would impair those with the United States, he replied:

"I don't think so. I always refuse to be imprisoned in the cage of a wrong alternative. I am quite convinced we will deepen our relations with France and the United States. I know there are difficulties but these difficulties can be solved if good will is prepared to solve them."

Kiesinger answered questions in English for a group of American and British reporters. They stopped him outside his office just as he was going into talks with Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, the Socialist leader who is expected to be vice chancellor and foreign minister in West Germany's first grand coalition of the Christian Democrat and Social Democrat parties.

Kiesinger asked not be questioned about cabinet members "because we have not as yet fully decided."

The Social Democratic party's members in the Bundestag want to see a complete cabinet list before pledging their votes to Kiesinger. But they are expected to vote to join the coalition, following the approval given Monday by their party leaders.
